Achieve Greater Profitability, Hire Top Talent Quickly, and Streamline Employee Management

Integrate Acumatica Construction Edition Software with BirdDogHR, an Arcoro Company

The health of your contractor business relies on your ability to attract and retain skilled workers who can complete projects on time and on budget. But first, you must overcome several challenges. You must maintain access to accurate, timely project data so that you can make strategic decisions. You need a steady stream of qualified candidates to fill your open positions. And you must minimize duplicate data entry and other sources of unnecessary costs.

That's why the BirdDogHR Applicant Tracking and Onboarding software now offers a real-time connection with Acumatica Construction Edition. You can easily capture and update employee demographic and position data, as well as tax and branch location information, in one place. This integration can help you eliminate duplicate data entry and reduce costs.

As you manage your workforce, new employee demographic data such as name, social security number, tax information, and other configurable fields transfer from BirdDogHR Onboarding into Acumatica. After the required fields are automatically filled in, Acumatica exports updates back into BirdDogHR Talent Management. This helps you use information to make strategic employee decisions—and gives you peace of mind that your accounting system will always have timely, accurate data.

By connecting these two powerful systems, you'll find top talent more quickly, streamline your onboarding processes, and gain greater insights into how you can ensure even more successful projects.
